SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 1[illegible]

President Lincoln

We conclude the article [illegible] in yesterday's paper on the [illegible] of President Lincoln—his motives, his policy and their probable result.

The earnest efforts of Mr. Lincoln toward conciliation for the few weeks after his arrival in Washington are now matters of history. His anxious and earnest expressions to those who were admitted to his counsels—the friendly, conciliating spirit which pervaded his Inaugural Address—his efforts to induce some prominent Southern men to accept a place in his Cabinet were only slight manifestations of the unselfish patriotism which pervaded his every thought and action. He cherished to the last the hope of a peaceable solution of our difficulties and return of the seceded States to their allegiance. He would not give it up, when rebel cannon had thundered treason against the walls of Sumter. Its glimmerings are even seen in his first proclamation and call for volunteers, the reading of which was received in the Rebel Congress "with shouts of laughter." When the blood of the soldiers of Massachusetts was shed by the red handed rebels of Baltimore on the 19th April—during that long and anxious week in which there was no communication between the Capitol and the country—when Baltimore would not permit provisions and coal to be sold to the beleaguered Capital—when rebel pickets were stationed within rifle shot of the White House—when our public buildings were barricaded—when loyal men all over the country had given up the hope of putting down treason by any power but that of arms—President Lincoln received with kindness and listened with attention to a delegation of secession sympathizers, sent by the State of Maryland to tell the Executive of the United States that no more National troops could be permitted to cross the soil of Maryland for the purpose of defending the City of Washington! True, they received an emphatic answer, as was then understood, for they were told that no foot of American soil was too sacred to be trod by a soldier of the army of the United States and that troops would be brought across the soil of Maryland, if it cost thousands of lives, and hundreds of millions of money to open the way."

This natural goodness of President Lincoln's heart—its comprehensive charity—its unselfish generosity, were elements which Southern Gentlemen (?) could not understand. The Buchanan Administration left the Government prostrate and helpless at the feet of secession. The spontaneous patriotism of the people alone saved it from destruction. The deep feeling with which the President regarded the desperate condition of the country, possessed with an anxiety which for weeks drove sleep from his eyelids, and which daily furrowed his face deeper with lines of care—the earnestness with which he addressed himself to the almost hopeless task before him, were all mistaken by traitors for symptoms of weakness and cowardice. Hence the disgraceful and infamous charges affecting his habits and character—the reflections upon his person and appearance with which the Southern newspapers were filled. [illegible] whisky!" John Tyler [illegible] bled a baboon.

President Lincoln has now administered the Government for more than a year. It has been a year fraught with more perils to the Republic than any other since the 4th of July 1776. He came into power after a bitter and excited political contest. He found the Treasury empty, the credit of the Government gone, its character degraded in the eyes of the nations, and the Republic, by the common voice, declared a failure. Within two months after his inauguration the wave of treason surged over nearly half the Union. Rebellions in their first beginnings were all successful, and the military power which he first called into existence was insufficient to cope with this. We were defeated at Bull Run. The nations of the Old World heard the news with ill concealed satisfaction. Their rejoicings were very much like those of miserable miscreants scattered over Oregon and Washington Territory.

To France and England the day of our destruction seemed to be within sight and with the slightest pretext the latter Power mingled her sounds of warlike preparation with the sound of our own fierce conflicts. Difficult has been the work of the Government. The Cabinet ministers have been skillful and able. Give each of them the honor they merit, and enough remains for him who has not only been President in name but in fact. If the Ship of State has been navigated through difficult channels and among great dangers she has had no more skillful pilot than the President. His load of public care has been sadly increased by domestic grief, which pierces with ten fold severity a sympathetic heart like his. He has poured out his tears upon the grave of those who were bound to him by the strongest ties of blood and of friendship. He has made costly sacrifices on the altar of his country, yet he has all the time borne himself with the fearless determination and calm dignity which becomes the President of a great people. In the name of justice let him have the reward while he lives.

At this time the men in the free States and Territories who sympathized with the rebels and rejoiced at their success at Fort Sumter and at Manassas would gladly blot from the record the evidences of their treatment of the best Government on earth. They then believed the Government would fall and they were making arrangements to have their share in the distribution of offices and rewards. To them, now there is no hope of the destruction of our Government, and they are ready to swear that they never harbored a thought against its preservation or its integrity. They even in their own peculiar way, resolved to sustain Mr. Lincoln and his Administration. [Vide the secesh resolutions adopted at Vancouver.]

While this is the condition of things at home, there is not a Government abroad, nor a representative of one in our country, that does not respect Mr. Lincoln. And to close these extended remarks, we would say, that we hear no more insulting allusions to his early life, his character, and personal habits. Even the rebels no longer receive his proclamations with "shouts of laughter." His old political enemies declare that he has won upon them. Abolitionist and Conservative, Democrat and Republican in Congress, alike respect his opinions and perform his recommendations. Honor is given where it is justly due. As the proportions of this gigantic rebellion fade away, one after another of its arms are cut off. Its leaders are writhing in their desperation. Its deluded followers are returning to their old allegiance. Every sign of the times indicates that the sun will soon shine upon a united Union and a happy people.

May peace give to the remaining years of the Administration of our honored President that repose and quiet, that esteem of a grateful people, which his virtues and his labors so well deserve.

PORT OF ENTRY FOR PUGET SOUND.—From Washington we learn that a desperate contest is going on in the Committees, between Col. Wallace, Delegate from Washington Territory, and Victor Smith, Special Agent of the Treasury Department for this Coast, on the subject of the removal of the port of entry from Port Townsend (made famous by J. Ross Browne's pictures) to Port Angelos, opposite Victoria. The latest accounts represent Col. Wallace as getting the best of the Agent, but the trouble with the latter seems to be, in not knowing how to surrender.

A new Post-office has been established at Port Angelos, Clalm county, W. T., and Valentine Nicholson appointed Postmaster.

John Souther has been appointed Postmaster at Corvallis, Benton county, Oregon.

A Commission has been received by the Postal Agent at San Francisco for Hiram Cochran, Postmaster at Vancouver, W. T.

The Firemens' Torchlight procession at San Francisco on the evening of July 10th, in honor of the passage of the Pacific Railroad bill, was a brilliant success, being the finest thing of the kind ever witnessed in that city. The procession was nearly a mile in length. The whole distance was a blaze of fire works and torches, transparencies, &c., from the time of starting until dismissal. The mottoes were all appropriate.

A SECESH LADY IN PARIS TROUBLED ABOUT BEING MARRIED UNDER THE FLAG.—Among the numerous things to which, as happening in Paris, our war has given rise, may be set down the following:

A young lady from Secessia, and hence of the most intense Secession proclivities, was anxious, as all young ladies are, to be married. She was not only anxious, however, but ready and willing, and so was her bridegroom, a French gentleman of wealth and distinction. In order to make the marriage civilly legal, however, it was necessary that it should be performed not only in the regular forms required by the French law, but afterwards in the legation of the country to which that lady belonged. Here was trouble. The lady belonged to Secessia, and Slidell was her representative. But Slidell's blessing would be of no more value to her under the circumstances than any ordinary individual's blessing or cursing, and so, after much anxiety and mental trouble, not wishing to postpone the happy day till Slidell was recognized (by which time she probably could not be married, on account of the gray hair and wrinkles of old age), she finally made up her mind to swallow the dose, and conducting her dearly beloved to the legation, they were married by Minister Dayton beneath the folds of the American flag, by a fiction of international law, upon American soil. It is said that Mrs. Slidell chided the young lady for her want of patriotism and self sacrifice, and asked her "why she didn't wait a little while till she could have been married by Slidell." But she was too wise for that.

All property belonging to secessionists in Arizona has been taken possession of by the Federal troops. Thus while Congress is debating constitutional questions with reference to confiscation of rebel property, the military are everywhere solving them as Alexander untied the gordian knot—with the sword.

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

The DAILY OREGONIAN may be had at the Franklin Book Store, and at Charles Barrett's, Front street.

FERRY LICENSE.—We learn that there is a contest about the ferry privilege across the river opposite this city, between Mr. Knott, the lessee or assignee of Mr. James Stevens, the owner of the soil on the opposite bank, and Col. Frush, to whom a license was granted by the County Commissioners at their late session. An appeal has been taken upon this grant, by Mr. Knott, and the landings of his steam ferry have been changed from near the Court House to foot of Stark street, the place designated in the license to Col. Frush. We further learn that Mr. Knott designs building another ferry boat, as soon as possible, to ply between the upper landings, while the present boat will continue at the lower crossing.

CHARTERED.—Mossman & Co.'s Express has chartered the steamer Leviathan to run between this city and the Cascades, expressly for carrying Express freight for said Company. She will commence her regular trips sometime next week, leaving Portland in the evening, after the arrival of the Overland mails, and arriving at Cascades in time to connect with Van Bergen's boat for the Dalles at 6 o'clock next morning. Passengers and freight by this arrangement, will leave here at 6 o'clock in the evening and arrive at the Dalles next day by 12 M. Leaving the Dalles in the morning will arrive here same day by 4 o'clock P. M.

SUPREME COURT.—Fifth Day.—Motion to amend judgment in case of Keith vs. Quinney, entered last term, was argued.

Argument concluded in J. F. Brown et. al. vs. L. P. Brown et. al.; Hopinwood vs. Patterson, and J. Wright et. al. vs. E. C. Lord et.al. No decisions as yet have been rendered.

NEW BOAT.—The Spray is the name of a new boat just completed at the Dalles, which will commence, next Monday, to make regular trips between the Dalles and Wallula, in connection with the new opposition line from this city to Lewiston.

MAINE SOLDIERS.—It is proposed in the State of Maine to erect, in the park in front of the State House, a monument, on which shall be graven the names of all the gallant sons of Maine who have fallen or shall fall in the defence of their country.

ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—The British Government, at the request of the Atlantic Telegraph Company, has ordered two steamers to be got ready for the purpose of making a further survey on both sides of the Atlantic.

The Markets.

We note but a slight change in market prices this week notwithstanding heavy shipments have been made and the demand still increases. Trade in flour and bacon has been quite brisk, also, foreign groceries of nearly every description find ready sale. Sailing vessels and steamers from below come up well freighted with assorted merchandise.—Several vessels are expected to arrive during the coming week from below, while the river steamers are daily departing with heavy shipments to upper Columbia and the mines. We learn that within the next ten or twelve days a fast line of boats will be put on between this city and the Cascades, in opposition to the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, the steamers of which latter company are now and probably will continue making regular daily trips as heretofore.

The Countersign.

Alas! the weary hours pass slow,
The night is very dark and still,
And in the marshes far below
I hear the bearded whip-poor-will;
I scarce can see a yard ahead,
My ears are strained to catch each sound;
I hear the leaves about me shed,
And the springs bubbling through the ground.

Along the beaten path I pace,
Where white rags mark my sentry's track;
In formless shrubs I seem to trace
The foeman's form with bending back,
I think I see him crouching low;
I stop and list—I stoop and peer,
Until the neighboring hills away
To groups of soldiers far and near.

With ready piece I watch and wait
Until mine eyes, familiar grown,
Detect each harmless earthen notch,
And turn guerillas into stone;
And then amid the lonely gloom,
Beneath the weird old tulip trees,
My silent march I resume,
And think on other times than these.

Sweet visions through the silent night!
The deep bay windows fringed with vine,
The room within, in softened light,
The tender, milk-white hand in mine;
The timid pressure, and the pause
That oft times overcame our speech—
That time when by mysterious laws
We each felt all in all to each.

And then, that bitter, bitter day,
When came the final hour to part,
When clad in soldier's honest gray,
I pressed her weeping to my heart;
Too proud of me to bid me stay,
Too fond of me to let me go,
I had to tear myself away,
And left her stolid in my woe.

So rose the dream—so passed the night—
When distant in the darksome glen,
Approaching up the sombre height
I heard the solid march of men;
Till over stubble, over sward
And fields where lay the golden sheaf,
I saw the lantern of the guard
Advancing with the night relief.

"Halt! who goes there?" my challenge cry,
It rings along the watchful line;
"Relief!" I hear a voice reply,
"Advance, and give the countersign!"
With bayonet at the charge, I wait,
The corporal gives the mystic spell;
With arms aport I charge my mate
And onward pass, and all is well.

But in the tent that night, awake,
I think, if in the fray I fall,
Can I the mystic answer make
Whene'er the angelic sentries call?
And pray that Heaven may so ordain
That when I near the camp divine
Whether in travail or in pain
I too may have the countersign.

An Every Day Tragedy.

The stormy December night was closing darkly over the city, and the rapidly descending snow seemed to fill the air with a wilderness of whirling white plumes.

But Mrs. Trevor's boudoir, with its luxurious appointments and cheerful fire, seemed almost like a bit of summer light and warmth in the midst of this dreary December twilight.

Ellen Hope, the pale young seamstress, had just folded up the costly satin dress on which she had been working all day, and was putting on her faded brown bonnet to depart, when Mrs. Trevor herself swept in "What! going already, child? Be sure and come early to-morrow morning, for I am in a great hurry about that dress."

"Yes, ma'am," said Ellen, still lingering, however, as if she expected something more. But Mrs. Trevor went on tossing over the trifles on the centre-table, as if in eager search for some missing toy, and after a minute's hesitation she added:

"If you please, ma'am, I am in a great hurry this evening—would it be convenient for you to pay me for the day's work now?"

"Not to-night, child!" said Mrs. Trevor, turning sharply round; "you act as though you imagined I was going to cheat you out of your wages! Perhaps I may give it to you to-morrow, but don't annoy me now!"

An expression of keen disappointment came over the girl's face, but she turned away and left the room without a word, while Mrs Trevor continued her hurried search, throwing the gleaming jewels and costly alabaster ornaments hither and thither with reckless haste.

Apparently the investigation was vain, for at length she sprang hurriedly towards the door, as if to call Ellen, and then, remembering that the girl had been gone some time, she stopped, and stood two or three minutes in deep thought.

Mr. Trevor was sitting before the drawing room fire, a red silk handkerchief thrown over his bald head, and his slippered feet poised on the fender, in blissful enjoyment of the evening paper. On the inlaid table beside him stood a cut-glass decanter containing dark red wine, and in one hand he held a tiny engraved goblet, half full of the same rosy liquid. In short, Mr Trevor was taking solid comfort after the "fitful fever" of a day in Wall street

"Well, my dear," said the gentleman, lazily, as his better half's footstep crossed the threshold, but as he glanced up and caught the peculiar expression of her countenance, he set down the unfinished draught, exclaiming:

"Good heavens! Sarah, what is the matter?"

"My diamond ring, Charles—the solitaire diamond, you know ——"

"What of it?"

"It is gone—stolen—and I have too much reason to think that Ellen Hope has taking it."

"Nonsense, my dear," said Trevor, who had risen and begun to pace up and down the room. "I would as soon suspect yourself of such a thing! Why, Ellen is innocence and purity itself!"

"So I always thought—so I should have said," answered Mrs Trevor, "but the diamond ring lay on the table in my boudoir this morning, two of the servants saw it there also—and now it is gone. Ellen is the only person besides myself who has entered the room since, and I observed that she went away— Charles, I am sure that she has taken it!"

Trevor walked up and down the apartment with hurried, angry footsteps—his wife leaned against the mantle, patting her tiny satin slipper on the floor, and awaiting his final decision.

"I am sorry for Ellen—very sorry," he said at length, with a fevered flush on his bald forehead, "but that ring was worth a thousand dollars. Search the premises thoroughly once more—and if the trinket is not found—"

"Well?"

"I will notify the police at once!"

* * * * * * *

"A thief, Mrs. Trevor! am I suspected of stealing?"

Ellen Hope had turned as white as ashes, as she stood with clasped hands and dilated eyes in the narrow little room where she dwelt. It was small but very, very neat, with its tiny white bed and the muslin curtain looped away from its one casement

LADD, WEBSTER & CO.'S
FAMILY
SEWING MACHINES

ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR

BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION

—AND—

Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, not easily put out of order; should make a firm lock stitch, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton thread or silk directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity, and should have a straight needle, curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer, should stitch, fell, run and gather, and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk above or below, to correspond with any two colored cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel feed, no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order, neither should it require a screw driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, or ravel.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY'S
Private Medical & Surgical Institute,

SACRAMENTO STREET, BELOW MONTGOMERY,
Opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Company's Office, San Francisco.

ESTABLISHED IN 1854 FOR THE PERMANENT cure of all Chronic and Private Diseases and the SUPPRESSION OF QUACKERY. Attending and Resident Physician L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., late in the Hungarian Revolutionary War, Chief Physician to the 20th Regiment of Honveds, Chief Surgeon to the Military Hospital of Pesth, Hungary, the late Lecturer on Diseases of the Genito-Urinary Organs and Diseases of Women and Children, and Honorary Member of the Philadelphia College of Medicine.

Particular attention paid to the treatment of diseases peculiar to Women and Children.

Office Hours—From 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Communications strictly confidential. Permanent cure guaranteed or no pay. Consultations by letter or otherwise FREE.

Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco.

Of all diseases the first great cause,
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws.

To the Afflicted.

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret diseases—Self Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Stricture, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Disease, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing, or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and resisted all their means of cure. The medicines used are pleasant, without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness and free from mercury or balsam. During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands who in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted who may place themselves under my care a speedy and permanent cure. Private diseases are the great enemies to health, as they are the first cause of consumption [illegible] and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected—a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons, who not only fail to cure the disease, but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury, which with the disease hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption. But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries, the disease is entailed upon the children who are born with feeble constitutions [illegible] the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, tetter, ulcers, eruptions and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering and consigning them to an early grave.

Self-abuse is another formidable enemy to health, for nothing else in the [illegible] catalogue of human diseases [illegible] so destructive a drain upon the system [illegible] [illegible] sufferer [illegible] manhood [illegible] prevents the proper development of the system [illegible] for marriage [illegible] happiness and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of Self-abuse that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices my patients can be restored to robust, vigorous health.

[illegible] Sacramento street [illegible] Washington Territory [illegible] by letter.

All business correspondence strictly confidential. Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, Medical Institute, Sacramento street, below Montgomery, opposite the Mail Steamship Company's Office, San Francisco.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief

[illegible]

the frightful exciting, and at times pleasurable dreams at night followed by involuntary discharges have all disappeared, and in fact in two months after having consulted the doctor I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience, that once under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

B. F. FILLMORE.

State of California, County of San Francisco.
Subscribed and sworn to before me, this seventh day of April A. D. 1856. Signed
[L. S.] JOHN MIDDLETON, Notary Public.

MARYSVILLE, June 3d, 1855.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well except that I have not entirely got my strength yet. I am on well with the appetite I have. It is just the [illegible] you may recollect, since I called at your Institute, with my constitution as I thought, broken entirely and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and tremble at everything. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms and the removal of those sores and blotches from my skin and the ulcers from my throat, and the entire stoppage of those emissions which you said were principally the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength, I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, and think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited you may put this letter in the newspapers. Believe me gratefully yours, THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves a commendation not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also. About two years ago I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of epilepsy, which owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such (I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning, and although insensible to the agonies, I yet despised the miseries of my life and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my miseries. While in this state, and having given up all hope [illegible] my affliction, [illegible] I once more was induced to attempt seeking aid of a physician and by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances, and of my inability to reward him for his services, regardless of which he, with [illegible] at once undertook my case and with the blessing of God I was once more restored to perfect health. Unable to reward him for the boon which I enjoy at present and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I consider it due to myself and all afflicted to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.

[L. S.] MEYER YABLONSKY.

State of California, County of San Francisco, ss. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 1st day of August, A. D. 1856.
